

Detection of green football fields

- Collect some images of football fields
- Write a program to detect the region of football fields using the method used in the RoboCup example
- The output should be the original image with a red mask highlighting the green region of the football field, e.g., like the medical image shown below

